IT'S HIGH NOON. THE GIRLS ARE ALREADY EXCITED--Gail Wight, Telstar field hockey coach

The Telstar High School field hockey team won the Western Maine Class C Championship Saturday, defeating Yarmouth, 3-2. Liza Fyrberg scored the winning goal on a penalty corner, after two overtime periods could not resolve a 2-2 tie. Below, Fyrberg battles a Yarmouth player for the ball. Strong-arm robbery attempted on Mill Hill

By ALISON ALOISIO

Police are looking for a man who allegedly attempted a strong arm robbery on Mill Hill Monday.

Bethel Police Chief Dale Bellman said the man, who was driving a blue pickup truck, stopped to apparently ask directions of a woman pedestrian at about 1:30 p.m.

When she approached the vehicle, he grabbed her by the face and told her to give him money bag she was carrying.

She did not give him the bag, and he started to drive off while holding the woman by her purse. She then fell onto the roadway, and he drove away.

Bellman said there was a witness to the incident, which is still under investigation.

Play Hall-Dale Saturday for state championship

The superstitious seniors on the Telstar High School field hockey team have their own little rituals for each game.

They've worked very well, apparently. The team is 17-0 through the regular season and three playoff games. Now, the Rebels hope the routine works one more time -- Saturday, against Hall-Dale, for the state championship.

Telstar won the Western Class C championship Saturday, 3-2, against Yarmouth High School. It took two overtime periods and a penalty corner showdown to do it.

Beth Howe and Michelle McInnis scored goals in the first half of regulation play Saturday, giving the Rebels a 2-1 lead at halftime.

But Yarmouth tied the score with about five minutes left in the game. Two 10-minute overtime periods produced no score.

It finally came down to the teams swapping penalty corners until one squad scored, and the other couldn't answer with its own goal.

It didn't take long. Telstar had the first chance, and Liza Fyrberg put a Beth Howe shot that bounced off the post into the cage.

Yarmouth was unable to score on its corner, as Sarah Richardson cleared the ball out of the zone. Richardson was promptly mobbed by her teammates.

"Usually, when a game goes to corners, a team doesn't score the first time," coach Gail Wight said.

Local soccer (and field hockey) moms are too busy for politics

By ALISON ALOISIO

The fall sports season is almost over, and soon they can all get a much needed rest.

Not the teams.

Nor mothers.

They're Telstar's version of "soccer moms," who replaced suburban women as the hot target market for this political season's campaigns. Around here, of course, field hockey moms are also in demand, having produced a team bound for the state championship game Saturday.

On the road

Regardless of the sport, if the moms actually had any time to organize politically -- which they don't -- they'd probably lobby in favor of bus credits for carpooling to games.

"I live out of my car," said Marjorie Osgood of Newry, who is both a

Lake Christopher home placed on National Register

By ALISON ALOISIO

The construction of the Lake Christopher cottage in 1916 was a dream come true for Bessie Collier Ellery.

The cottage, known as either "the Mountain Lodge" or "the dream-home," has now proven to be of historical value as well. It was recently named to the National Register of Historic Places.

Bessie Collier's family, from Massachusetts, summered for years at a cottage near the site of the lodge. She reportedly dreamed of building a house at that location, which is at the foot of a steep rock ledge.

The means to do it came after she married William Ellery. "He was a wool buyer," said Blaine Mills of the Greenwood Historical Society. "He saw World War I coming (with wool uniforms needed for the U.S. Army), and cornered the market."

The Ellerys hired an Italian craftsman to do much of the work, Mills said. "Bessie was impressed by some of the places on Mt. Desert Island. She wanted an Italian-like villa."

The cottage became the centerpiece of a 125-acre estate comprised of a nearby island and several other cottages and buildings, including a log cabin and outhouse said to have been built for the chauffeur.

Ellery also planted extensive gardens, as current owner Jenna Smith well knows. She and husband, Scott, have worked for two years to restore and improve the house and grounds. She has the original landscape drawings for the property.

"(Ellery) had sunken Italian gardens, orchards, fountains, nature walks and bridle trails," she said. "There were rare azaleas and fabulous mountain laurel."

Mechanic St. water lines set to go in this month

Will connect with Bethel [illegible]

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The jackhammers and backhoes will be digging into Mechanic Street this month, but not for the oft-delayed infrastructure upgrade package.

This year's digging will be for only one component of that upgrade: the water lines.

The other aspects of the upgrade -- including sewer and storm drainlines, rebuilding and repaving the roadway, and putting in a sidewalk -- are not scheduled to take place until the spring.

But the Bethel Water District has [illegible]

MOLLYOCKETT AND THE LIONS

To the Editor:

How sad it is when a civic club is told after 27 years of hard work and hundreds of hours devoted in the production of Mollyockett Day, that they are a bad influence on Bethel.

It is a sad day in Bethel, but in America, when a Chamber of Commerce can say to a civic service group, "Let us run your projects the way we want to or we will get the town to regulate the use of the [illegible] and you will be out." [illegible] political scientists can laugh and joke and rake [illegible] and the foresters can scowl, grumble and [illegible] battle. The media political pundits [illegible] super journalistic clairvoyance for [illegible] pot forestry losses and wins and hope their [illegible] readers will not see the hypocrisy difference [illegible] when it comes to freebie Arkansas Thanksgiving [illegible]

Maine's forestry referendum folks spent about a buck a piece for king of the lobby hill.

One of the big dealers in the 2B forestry push was Maine's Dept. of Conservation which of course did exactly what 2B King wanted for propaganda spinner snowballs.

Mainers should keep an eye on this Maine motherhood outfit. It's big and porky -- $25 million budget, 300 personnel -- with about 25 bureaus and divisions with authority over everything from the Maine forests to Baxter State Park to radioactive waste.

Conservation also has a gathering, mapping and indexing squad concerning Maine's so-called rare and endangered plants and animals.

Maine property owners might wake up one morning and find a notice in their mailbox that the state has found a rare something or other they never heard of on their property. Eureka! Congratulations, you're in the Maine Natural Areas Program computer forever.

That was the case of Ms. Delvina Keith of Kingman who was notified in July that a globally rare plant was growing on her property. According to Dept. of Conservation maps, air photos, historical data and field work, also state surveillance unknown to Ms. Keith, her property contains the appropriate habitat for the Orono sedge (Carex oronensis).

Ms. Keith was informed that this flowery, fruity, road-sidey, weedyish plant occurs nowhere else in the world except central Maine and Penobscot River Valley including 36 towns and the counties of Aroostook, Hancock, Penobscot, Piscataquis, Somerset and Waldo.

However, that's not to say that Governor Angus [illegible] Keith is not [illegible] through the legislature to set [illegible] Orono sedge sightings [illegible]

The state also informed Ms. Keith that, at present, there are no laws in Maine that protect this plant. But it didn't say there wouldn't be. A state botanist also didn't inform Ms. Keith how to specifically identify the plant so she wanted to preemptively herbicide it from her future property assets liability.

Bureaucratic botanists did mail a few hints like a black and white copy of the thing and an aid to identification saying it "can be difficult to identify without careful examination of microscopic features and general knowledge of general groups of species." Big deal, huh, Delvina.

Ms. Keith, and presumably all other endangered property plant and animal secret harborers, are invited to join the Maine Natural Areas Program and become a part of plugging Maine rarities into the international network of Heritage Programs.

Ms. Keith's property then could be a magnet for thousands upon thousands of Orono sedge-seeker-trekkies from around the planet.

As an added membership bonus, Ms. Keith lends her support to state bureaucracies and natural resources professionals (aka sedge huggers) who can legally protect all sedge areas and therefore either cause decade delays or outright ace property development in Sierra Dirigo.

Conservation's Natural Area Program works quite slowly, however, because of its backlog created by corporate conservation coalition's submission of 199,099 endangered plant and animal species in Maine covering 33,214 square miles which leaves just one half acre for "Maine is on the Move" commercial jobs development.

To balance the Maine Natural Areas Program, politically correct that is, the National Fiberglass Big Stud Council was encouraged to submit Bangor's Paul Bunyan plant (Humongous peavey) to the program decades ago. Which it did. No endangered word yet.

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

Margaret Joy Tibbetts will speak on early education in Bethel from the 1790s to the middle of the 19th century at the next meeting of the Bethel Historical Society on Nov. 7 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m. This presentation is one in a continuing series of programs during this bicentennial year dealing with the history of Bethel. Anyone interested in this program is cordially invited to attend.

Well over $8,000 has been contributed to the 1996 Bethel Historical Society Annual Fund Campaign from 330 contributors, a near record number of donors. Among the latest contributors are: Dana and Mildred Jackson, Bethel; Dr. Charles and Edith Seashore, Bethel; Richard K. and Marion E. Irey, Toledo, Ohio; Kathy M. Hooke, Bethel, in memory of Sarah Aljada Cosseboom; Greg and Sandy Howe, Gettysburg, Penn., in memory of Edith K. Howe (1894-1975); Arthur P. Gottwald, Alexandria, Va.; Rodney K. and Geraldine S. Howe, Bethel, in memory of Don Brown (1919-1996) and Lillian Bartlett (1899-1996); Rudy and Barbara Honkala, Bethel, in memory of Euphemia Dick Hastings (1908-1996).

Much appreciation is expressed to all of the above for their generosity. Anyone wishing to make a tax-deductible contribution should send it to the society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217-0012.

Briefly

Mills: AWD deliberately stalled EPA

ANDOVER--Andover Water District trustee chairman Roger Mills announced his resignation last week, making him the third trustee -- out of three -- to quit in the past three weeks. Mills' resignation was expected to be effective Tuesday. The district has been given 30 days to negotiate an agreement with the Environmental Protection Agency to bring its water supply into compliance with the Safe Drinking Water Act, or face possible legal action. For three years controversy has plagued trustees' efforts to comply. At a users' meeting last Wednesday, Mills agreed with a statement made by Liz Bodwell that the district has intentionally stalled the EPA "hoping that they'd change their minds." New trustee Ronnie Wells -- the only one the district now has -- said he favors using the 30 days to research using a sand filter for the district's reservoir water. Drilling a well was the option the previous board had studied, under the recommendation of the Maine Public Utilities Commission.

American Skiing to buy Pico

NEWRY--The American Skiing Co. has reached an agreement to purchase the assets of the Pico Peak Ski Area in Sherburne, Vt. ASC plans to operate the resort this season with management provided by the neighboring Killington Ski Resort. The resort is expected to open by Christmas. The ASC did not disclose the purchase price of the acquisitions.

McLaughlin garden group bid fails

PARIS--The McLaughlin Garden Preservation Group has failed to meet a $225,000 bid placed on the late Bernard McLaughlin's property. A second preservation group, the McLaughlin Foundation, Inc., had previously failed to meet its $200,000 bid. The garden, believed to be the largest private perennial collection on the East Coast, has been the subject of controversy for months as the two groups have competed to save it from a potential sale to developers. The Foundation's offer is now re-activated under a provision in its bid for a six-month option set to expire in January. Many of the original plants, as well as offspring of others, have been moved to a site in Greenwood by McLaughlin's son, Richard.

Hebron dedicates Chadbourne center

HEBRON--The new Philip H. Chadbourne Outdoor Education Center was dedicated in a recent ceremony at Hebron Academy. It commemorates Chadbourne, a member of the Class of 1920, whose bequest made possible the purchase of new camping gear and the renovation of the former Herrion Trading Post. Chadbourne's son, Ted, spoke at the dedication.

Deer season prospects bright

AUGUSTA--Hunters venturing into the woods this season should find more deer than last year, according to the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. "High fawn survival during the past two years should result in abundant stocks of yearling and two and one-half-year-old bucks in the herd," said Gerry Lavigne, IFW deer biologist. Hunters during the regular firearms and blackpowder seasons are required to wear two square feet of solid-or hunter orange clothing, one of which must be a hat or cap.

"Hunters for the Hungry" underway

MEDWAY--Over 300 pounds of moose meat -- the first donated under the new "Hunters for the Hungry" program -- was sent to feed people in Penobscot and Aroostook counties last week. The meat came from an illegally killed moose confiscated by the Maine Warden Service, but a unique aspect of the program is legally-taken game, such as deer, moose and bear. Meat can be donated to food kitchens, shelters and charitable organizations statewide by calling 1-888-4DEERME. The program is run jointly by the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife and the Department of Agriculture.

200 mph airbags can kill

WASHINGTON, D.C.--Car air bags, which come out of a dashboard at 200 miles per hour, can break the bones and even necks of children and people of small stature, according to the Air Bag Safety Campaign. The group is trying to persuade parents to allow children to ride only in the back seat of cars. That is the law in some European countries. Inflating air bags have killed at least 26 youngsters in the United States. The safety group said a survey showed that more than 85 percent of people who regularly drive children believe that youngsters of 12 and under are safer riding in the front seat.

Make school air healthier

AUGUSTA--The American Lung Association of Maine is offering tips to help make the state's schools "lung healthy." "Because indoor air pollution can trigger asthma, we are particularly concerned about keeping air in schools as healthy as possible," said Dr. Barbara Chilmonczyk, a pediatric allergist. "Asthma is the number-one cause of school absenteeism due to chronic conditions and the leading chronic illness among elementary children," she said. An ALA report shows about 24,000 Maine children suffering from asthma. The ALA recommends providing good ventilation, care in purchasing maintenance supplies, drying wet carpets within 24 hours to prevent mold growth and avoiding classroom pets, as ways of improving school air quality.

More SBA loans to women

BOSTON, Mass.--The percentage of Small Business Administration loans to women in Maine has increased significantly in the past four years, according to Patrick McGowan, New England regional administrator. In fiscal year 1992, 8.4 percent of loans went to women business owners, while in 1996 the figure was 27.5 percent. The total loans for Maine numbered 320, with more than $44,271,000 approved.

Drought puts horses up for adoption

SPRINGFIELD, Va.--Almost 3,000 wild horses and burros are being gathered in Utah and Nevada because of the lack of food and water caused by a severe drought, according to the bureau of Land Management. The animals are being placed in holding facilities in the West until they are ready for adoption to good homes throughout the country. To qualify to adopt up to four animals, an adopter needs to provide proper care, a safe facility and transportation for the animal from the site of the adoption. For more information call 1-800-293-1781.

Pregnant women should avoid Prozac

PORTLAND--Pregnant women and those planning to become pregnant should try to avoid taking fluoxetine (Prozac) until the drug's effects in pregnancy have been studied further, according to the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation. The foundation's comments came in response to an article published in last week's issue of the New England Journal of Medicine. "The higher rate of prematurity among the babies of women in this study who took Prozac in the last trimester of pregnancy is troubling," said Richard B. Johnston, Jr., M.D., medical director of the March of Dimes. While the babies did not have more major birth defects than average, he said, they did have a higher rate of minor physical signs that sometimes are associated with more serious, hidden defects. He advises pregnant women taking Prozac, or women taking the drug who plan to become pregnant, to consult their doctor.

From the Bethel Police log:

Halloween tricks no treat for police

On Oct. 31 at 9:40 p.m. subjects were seen walking between the Bethel Fire Department and the Bethel Opera House. The officer also observed two large pumpkins on the ground. The two subjects said they had found them on the road and were just moving them out of the roadway. The officer took control of the vegetables in order that they might be returned to their rightful owner. The subjects adamantly denied having taken them.

At 12:31 a.m. an Oxford County sheriff's deputy requested that police respond to a Sunday River Road residence. The resident reported someone had attempted to enter her home. She also said she had had a burglary two weeks earlier. Police checked the residence, and it appeared to be in order. The officer also observed where a vehicle had entered and exited every driveway that had a residence that appeared unoccupied. He advised the deputy of his observations.

Friday, Nov. 1

At 12:10 a.m. police discovered that an unknown person had egged the Police Department office and thrown a 10-pound pumpkin through the window, shattering both panes of glass, destroying the window blind and spreading shattered glass throughout the office.

At 9:25 a.m. police received a report that sometime during the night the front of the Bethel Library had been spray-painted with pink paint.

At 11 p.m. police received a report of a domestic assault from a West Bethel resident. He said it occurred next to his residence. On arrival police spoke with a woman who said her husband had physically assaulted her. He admitted to assaulting his wife. Police placed Christopher N. Rose (no age given) under arrest for domestic assault.

Saturday, Nov. 2

At 5 p.m. a Broad St. resident reported that while her vehicle was parked at Sud's Bar on Halloween it was damaged by an unknown person. The antenna, front right marker light and trunk received damage.

At 4:28 p.m. a Mayville resident reported he had seen a vehicle with three male subjects dressed in hunter orange holding or pointing a rifle out the window of the vehicle. He then saw two deer in the field in the direction in which the subject was pointing. The complainant sounded a car horn. The deer ran off and the vehicle made a U-turn and headed toward Rumford on Rt. 2. Police found a vehicle similar to the description parked on a logging road off Route 2. The vehicle was still warm. Two subjects then exited the woods, stating at first they were in fact down the road and the reason the weapon was out the window was because it was jammed and they were trying to get it unloaded. The third subject exited the woods with a weapon and in hunter orange. The subject admitted to hunting and not possessing a license. One subject was issued a summons for hunting without a license, one for hunting from a motor vehicle and possessing a loaded firearm in a motor vehicle.

Monday, Nov. 4

At 7:17 a.m. Brooks Brothers store reported that during the night on Nov. 3, forced entry was made into the building and items stolen. Anyone with information regarding the incident is asked to call the Police Department.

Tuesday, Nov. 5

At 12:14 a.m. a subject was stopped on the Northwest Bethel Road for speeding. He refused to perform a field sobriety test, and had extremely glassy and bloodshot eyes and slurred speech. While speaking with the subject the officer could smell a very strong odor of an alcoholic beverage on his breath, and could smell alcohol in the vehicle. The subject had difficulty retrieving requested items from his vehicle and wallet, and also attempted to leave. Timothy Bean, 27, of Locke Mills was placed under arrest for OUI. A marijuana pipe was located during the search of the vehicle, along with several cans of beer. The vehicle was towed. The alcohol test result was .12 percent. Bean was also charged with possession of drug paraphernalia.

ASK A LAWYER

Recently I decided to become an organ donor in the event of my death. I have signed the organ donation form and currently have an organ donor sticker on my driver's license. My immediate family objects to organ donation. What, if anything, can I do to ensure that my wishes will be honored.

An anatomical gift or organ donation does not require the consent of your family.

Any individual of sound mind who is at least 16 years old may give all or any part of their body as an anatomical gift following death. The individual may give the organ for research, education, therapy or transplantation. In making an organ donation, the individual may specify a donee such as a hospital, physician, surgeon, medical school, dental school, a college, a university or a licensed facility for the storage of human body parts. If an individual does not specify a donee, the attending physician may accept the gift as a donee.

A person may make an anatomical gift in a document expressing their intent signed by them in the presence of two witnesses who must also sign the document. The document may be a card small enough to fit in your wallet.

A person may also make an anatomical gift in their will. While most gifts in wills must wait for the will to be probated, a process which can involve delays, an anatomical gift becomes effective upon death without waiting for probate.

The best way to ensure that your wishes will be honored is to carry a card with you which expresses your wishes. You should also place a gift in your will. However, the card and the will should be consistent to avoid confusion. If you are specifying who the gift is to, you should give them a copy of the document. An anatomical gift is valid even if you do not give the donee a copy.

soccer and field hockey mom.

Osgood's combined-sport record so far is 25-5 -- 25 games attended, five missed. That includes away games in places like Jay and Farmington.

Her inventory of car supplies includes extra clothes, blankets, umbrellas, food, and mouthguards. "And sometimes I bring things to make posters," she said.

When it's a field hockey game with 10th-grade daughter Erin, Osgood also carries a soccer ball for sixth-grade son Wade.

"In case he gets bored with field hockey," she said. Wade played for the middle school J.V. soccer team.

Despite the extra munchies she brings along, supper can still mean a restaurant stop with hungry kids, according to dad, Jim Osgood.

"When I cook, it's Pat's Pizza," he said.

Was Marjorie disappointed to learn McDonald's is not coming to Bethel Station?

"No," she said. "It would probably have meant eating there seven nights a week instead of just on away games."

With both parents working, transportation (and feeding) sometimes falls to grandparents Hi and Mary Lou Berry, who also attend many games.

"You can spend a week's pay (on restaurant food) with a carful of kids," said Mary Lou.

The Berrys also had to follow another team as well, as grandson Jason Berry played high school varsity soccer.

They were among the brave souls who traveled to Falmouth last week to cheer for the Rebels in a playoff matchup. Telstar lost the game, which was played in a driving rainstorm.

Jason's mom, Loretta, also made the trip, getting out of work at Preb's Pharmacy early. Would she have done it over again, knowing the outcome and the weather? "Yes," she said. "Jason's a senior, and I wouldn't have missed it." Loretta is also a field hockey mom, to high school daughter Mandy.

Another soccer mom, Pat Donovan of Bethel, doesn't have the problem of multiple sports in the fall.

It's a good thing. All four of her sons -- ages 6 to 14 -- play soccer.

"I've had all four of them have a game at the same time," she said.

Donovan has been a regular volunteer coach for first- and second-grade soccer. One or another of her boys has been at that level for years.

Add working and keeping up with running a household to that schedule, and something's got to give.

"The house suffers," Donovan said.

Soccer politics

And how do Telstar's sports moms feel about being wooed by 1996's political candidates?

Most of them didn't even know about it. "I don't have time to watch the news during soccer season," said Donovan. "I don't get home from games early enough."

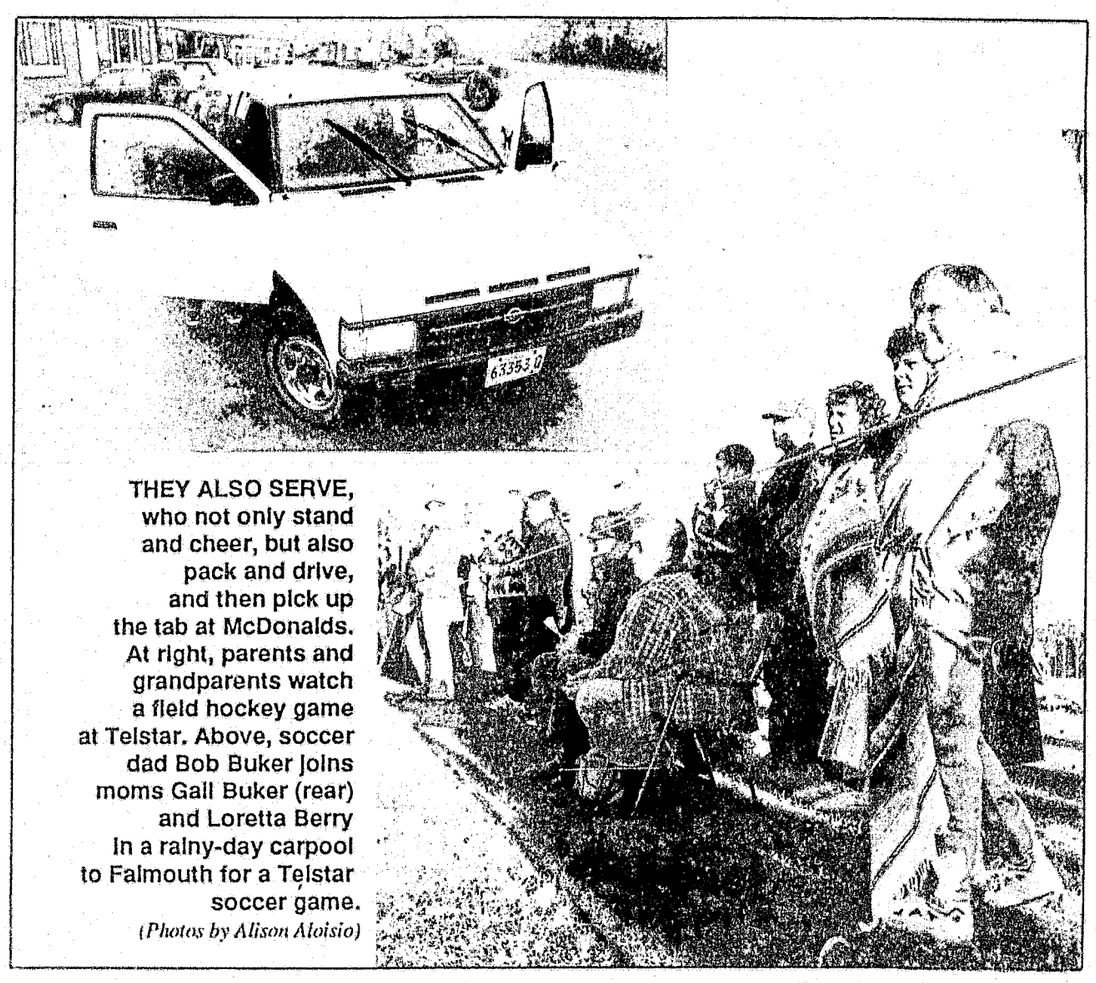
Did they at least debate Clinton versus Dole on the sidelines of Telstar versus Dirigo?

"At a soccer game?" Donovan asked incredulously.

The closest she came to anything political at a game was a mud-slinging contest among the middle school players -- and they used real mud.

But take heart, mothers. Basketball season starts soon. Game halftimes are much longer -- enough time, perhaps, to organize a political lobby for the next election.

Did somebody say: "special interest group"?



THEY ALSO SERVE, who not only stand and cheer, but also pack and drive, and then pick up the tab at McDonalds. At right, parents and grandparents watch a field hockey game at Telstar. Above, soccer dad Bob Buker joins moms Gail Buker (rear) and Loretta Berry in a rainy-day carpool to Falmouth for a Telstar soccer game. (Photos by Alison Aloisio)

"It usually takes two or three tries."

Now, Wight and her team are looking forward to Saturday's game, which takes place at 12 noon at Lewiston High School.

"It's high noon," said Wight. "The girls are already excited."

Hall-Dale is a team that Telstar has already played -- and beaten 1-0 -- this season.

"They have similar strengths to us -- fast players, good stickwork. But we should do well, as long as we keep our nice, positive attitude," Wight said.

The last time the Rebels played for the state championship was 1991. They lost then, as they did in state championship games played in 1989 and 1990.

But, said Wight, "This team is very well-balanced."

For which she forgives them a few idiosyncracies.

Like having to have their stuffed bear mascot with them at every game.

Like making sure goalie Jessie Wight always carries her own equipment onto the field.

Like telling the coach she can only wear shorts -- not pants -- during the game, no matter how cold it gets.

Which leaves Wight hoping for a warm day Saturday. Still, she's ready to grin and bear it if it's 20 degrees.

"Whatever it takes," she said. "So long as they're happy."

Mechanic Street

and that grant money expires at the end of the year.

Also, Saunders said, the water line work needs to be done before the rest of the project, in part because water lines tend to run underneath the rest of the plumbing infrastructure.

It is also easier to do the work in the fall, he said, rather than wait until the spring -- when water-soaked ground makes the work more difficult and more expensive.

"It's easier, cleaner and less expensive to do it now," Saunders said.

Nearly 1,000 feet of 12-inch line will be laid, Saunders said. The new line will be located on the eastern (monument) side of the street, set off approximately 4 feet from the 8-inch pipe it is replacing.

The new line will connect with another new line, the one recently installed along the path of the Mechanic Street extension in Bethel Station. That line, also a 12-inch main, now runs from Cross Street to the south side of Railroad Street.

The line, which passes underneath the railroad tracks, will eventually extend to the parkway and will be the main water source for the proposed (but also long delayed) Bethel Station hotel.

Saunders said that while the Mechanic Street work is underway water users along the route can expect occasional brief interruptions of service.

While the street is ripped up, cars and trucks will be detoured around the sections where work is underway, according to Town Manager Madeleine Henley.

The water line work is expected to take less than two weeks to complete, Henley said.

The town will allow the trench to remain unpaved through the winter, she said, but the contractor will be responsible for dealing with any mud problems in the spring.

Referendum

prior to the vote, the selectmen voted Monday to postpone the referendum untill next month.

The new schedule will allow for the Budget Committee to meet and its recommendations to be added to the ballot.

The earlier date could have been used for a special Town Meeting on all three questions -- since the Town Meeting process involves less statutory lead time -- but the selectmen had agreed earlier that a referendum allowed for a more representative vote.

80-percent condition deleted

The selectmen also voted Monday to eliminate a requirement that during the term of the treatment-plant loan 80 percent of all Sewer System Development Charges be applied to debt service.

The condition had been proposed by selectman Rick Whitney at an earlier meeting. Whitney argued it would prevent future boards from diverting the SSDC funds to other purposes.

But Hole advised the board to reconsider the condition, which in effect amounted to an attempt to override the sewer ordinance with a warrant article.

Selectmen John Thurston also questioned the wisdom of tying the hands of future boards. For example, he argued, if interest rates increased and further capital improvements were needed, it would be in the rate payers' best interest for SSDC funds to be used to reduce future borrowing, rather than go toward paying off an older, lower-interest loan.

Thurston motioned to strike the condition. His motion passed 3-1, with the support of Dutch Dresser and Ruth Grover. Whitney was opposed. (Board chairman Bob Chadbourne was not present).

Street swap

The selectmen also voted Monday to add an additional article to the warrant. Lincoln Street in the Bethel Station project is now complete and needs to be formally accepted by the town. Voters will be asked to do this on Dec. 13, and also to release the now-closed portion of Cross Street (from Lincoln Street to Route 2) to the developers.

FROM THE

Bethel Town Office

The selectmen have scheduled a referendum vote for Dec. 16, 1996. The polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. There are several items to be voted upon. Below is presented an excerpt of the memo from the treatment plant upgrade informational meeting held by the selectmen last month. A public hearing for the referendum will be held at 7 p.m. next Wednesday, Nov. 16, at Crescent Park School.

Rural Development (formerly FmHA) has found the Treatment Plant Upgrade project eligible for a loan/grant financing package. The preliminary loan/grant ratio is 60/40. A vote is necessary to authorize the Selectmen to borrow the loan portion of the Rural Development grant/loan package. The town will need to borrow only $769,080 of the estimated $1,705,000 treatment plant upgrade. The amount available from Rural Development is $769,080 in loan and $512,720 by grant. We are working hard to get the ratio changed to 50/50 so that even less money will be borrowed and more will come from grant. We have been successful in getting grant commitments for the balance. The Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant will provide $423,200 to the treatment plant upgrade.

The payment for the loan is expected to come from SSDC charges received over the life of the loan. The annual debt payment will be approximately $48,000. Bethel Station alone is expected to generate an additional $550,000 in SSDC through buildout. (Bethel Station has already paid about $60,000 in SSDC.) That money can be directed to the loan repayment; there is no penalty for pre-payment.

The following is a summary of the reasons for the upgrade. Please accept my gratitude for taking the time to review this article. I hope you will also take the time to attend the public hearing next Wednesday if you have any questions or comments. Finally, I hope you will vote on Dec. 16 to authorize the selectmen to take the steps necessary to fulfill this important community need.

Flow capacity

The treatment plant is licensed for .3 mgd, or 300,000 gallons per day. We exceeded our licensed discharge limit 41 days of the last 365. The month of April 1996 average was 319,000 gallons per day. With our existing customer base, we are bumping against our limit. At buildout, Bethel Station is expected to generate nearly 50,000 gpd. In addition, the estimate for residential and commercial growth over the next twenty years is almost 50,000 gpd.

Left-over operational problems

The 1989 treatment plant upgrade was reduced because of funding restrictions. The original upgrade was trimmed back to fix the immediate problems and get the DEP moratorium lifted. There are large problems remaining: hydraulic deficiencies, with certain sections actually encouraging surcharging; the clarifiers need cover; one aeration basin is suspect; an emergency generator is required by law; the 25-year-old pumping station could go anytime; and there is marginal screening and no grit removal.

Septic receiving

The town has been unable to find a good alternative to offer the off-system citizens. The current septic receiving system is inefficient and unreliable. In 1995 we accepted 82,400 gallons of septage, so far in 1996 we have received 125,250 gallons.

Bio-solids (sludge) handling

While there are no specific improvements in this area, the conversion of an aeration basin to sludge storage will relieve some of the timing problems that beset bio-solids management at the plant.

Respectfully submitted,
Madeleine E. Henley

A special look at

Veteran's Day

As we give thanks for our abundance...

... let us not forget the veteran who fought to keep our nation free!

Monday, November 11th

proudly sponsored by the Jackson Silver Post #68 of the American Legion, Locke Mills, Maine

The Origin of Veterans Day

Hostilities in World War I, which began in late July, 1914, were suspended at eleven o'clock in the morning of Monday, November 11, 1918, after the signing of the Armistice by the contending powers. News of the signing of the Armistice was received with great joy throughout the world. The anniversary of November 11 is observed as a great patriotic holiday.

On November 11, 1919, President Woodrow Wilson, in the following proclamation, expressed the meaning of the first Armistice anniversary in these words:

"To my Fellow Countrymen:

" A year ago our enemies laid down their arms in accordance with an armistice which rendered them impotent to renew hostilities, and gave to the world an assurred opportunity to reconstruct its shattered order and to work out in peace a new and juster set of international relations...

"We were able to bring the vast resources, material and moral, of a great and free people to the assistance of our associates in Europe who had suffered and sacrificed without limit in the cause for which they fought. Out of this victory there arose new possibilities of political freedom and economic concert. The war showed us the strength of great nations acting together for high purposes, and the victory of arms foretells the enduring conquests which can be made in peace when nations act justly and in furtherance of the common interests of men.

"To us in America the reflections of Armistice Day will be filled with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory, both because of the thing from which it has freed us and because of the opportunity it has given America to show her sympathy with peace and justice in the councils of the nations."

On June 1, 1954, the President signed Public Law 380 which changed Armistice Day to Veterans Day in honor of the veterans of all wars.

The American Legion and Jackson Silver Post #68

A Tradition of Caring for Local Veterans

The American Legion was established in France after World War I to assist veterans returning from that great conflict. "It gave the men a bond - something in common," according to Earl Tyler of Jackson Silver Post #68.

Today, the American Legion helps veterans and local children through a variety of visitation and support activities for vets, and youth initiatives for children. Some of the childrens programs include Boys State/Boys Nation, American Legion Baseball, oratorical competitions, scouting sponsorship, and scholarships.

The American Legion also has an active Auxiliary made up of the wives, daughters and grandaughters of veterans. Initially the Auxiliary was made up of the families of World War I veterans who gathered to welcome home servicemen and women from World War II.

Jackson Silver Post is named for two local soldiers killed on the battlefield of World War I. Cpl Harold Jackson of Milton Plantation died on May 10, 1918. Pvt William Silver of South Woodstock died on July 20, 1918. These were the first two men to lose their lives in the war from this area.

The Jackson Silver Post has met in many a building over the years, including a mill boiler room in the years the meeting hall was without heat. Since 1979, Post #68's home has been on Gore Road in Locke Mills. Current membership has swelled to 168. For more information about joining the American Legion, contact Earl Tyler at the legion hall.

Bethel

by Phyllis Dock

Celia Gorman is now at the Ledgeview Nursing Home in West Paris, room 204.

Jim Dock visited his grandparents, the Norman Docks on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Hanscom and their daughter, Nancy Anderson, and Ruth Cummings visited Amy and Roger Hanscom at the Rumford Community Home on Sunday afternoon. Rodney had a church service for the residents and Nancy played the piano.

Roger returned to the home from the hospital that day just in time to attend the church service.

Vada Glover of Rumford visited Ruth Cummings at the Bethel House on Tuesday. They went to Wal-Mart and then had a great lunch at the Frozen Logger in Bryant Pond and played cribbage after getting home.

Some seventh-grade girls from Telstar Middle School and their counselor entertained the residents of the Bethel House on Tuesday afternoon. They served delicious refreshments and everyone seemed to have a great time.

Charlotte Cole and Vera Cross of Locke Mills had come to the Bethel House to deliver goodies to some of the residents and to visit with Helena Bartlett. When Charlotte learned of the party, she came to the community room and played her guitar so folks could sing. Vera visited with Helena.

Helena Bartlett is doing well after her recent surgery.

We are hoping that the children will come back at another time. They certainly brought a lot of cheer to us old folks.

Vada Glover was a guest at the party and she said she certainly enjoyed it.

I would like to share with you some thoughts about the issue of today's youth, and what is portrayed as a unique (today only) problem.

I disagree, for I recall other generations, even vaguely as early as the 1920's (called the Roaring Twenties) when bootlegging and rowdy behavior existed. Then, shortly there were the mobs and gang rivalry, later (many of you may recall) the booze and rowdiness at "Woodstock."

One could go on, but for those of you who do not remember those times, surely you can recall a generation ago when "Pot" and other drugs were an issue!

I recall one incident which has never been forgotten. It took place in a doctor's office in the Portland area when a young woman rushed in, asking for help, her boyfriend was "on a high" from some drugs, and she didn't dare drive him home, but came to the doctor (who was a friend of her family). The doctor advised her that he would help, but that he would be obligated to contact the boy's parents. That evening, this episode compelled me to write the following words, questioning "why" young people seem drawn to drugs.

A letter to Cain from Mother Eve. Child, what have we done to hurt you so that you must seek the truth in weeds? Has not the garden we have sown grown plants of honesty to meet your needs? And when in trust you seek our help do we deny we ever went astray? Instead, in shocked indignation, heap guilt on guilt, 'till thus rejected you once more sadly turn away? Alas, man teaches child that man is pure, and child must bring no shame to tear man's fine castle down with stain upon the family name. Is man not strong enough to keep his own gained treasure strong, secure? Or, must child be father to the man? Not many thus can long endure! Dry now your tears, my child of love and know that I'm a child like you. I've erred as others will (and will again). Count your mistakes as lessons, not as sins. Bring fresh your strength to each new 'morrow, knowing that I love you still.

Alder River Grange will have a regular meeting on Nov. 8 at the hall at 7:30 p.m. The Grange will have its last supper on Nov. 9 at 5 p.m.

Polly Smith lost her last brother-in-law, Wayne Moore, recently.

On Oct. 29, Donna Bernard of Andover and Polly Smith attended the International Sing in Rumford.

Avis Moore attended the wedding of her grandson in Lewiston on Oct. 26. The reception was at Lost Valley, with a big supper. The groom is the son of Fred and Brenda Gurney and the bride was Jennifer Gendron. Brandon Moore sang a song for the couple.

Kane Olson has played soccer with the JV team at the Middle School this fall. They have had an undefeated season.

Karl Olson's fourth-grade class set up and ran a mock election recently at school. They listened to the candidates and issues, registered to vote and voted.

Kane and Karl Olson saw a cow moose and her young one in Sonny Hastings' corn field between Richard Kimball's and Clayton Bartlett's recently.

Richard and Pat Kimball's new home now has the roof on. There were some shingles down on the road side when I came by on Oct. 28.

Ice pellets on Oct. 30 gave a hint of what is to come.

It has been quite an October, and by the time you read this we will be in November. If I had to pick a month I like least it would be a toss-up between August and November. Physically speaking, August is generally the month when my body seems to be at its lowest point. November sometimes just depresses me. The leaves are mostly gone, last-minute preparations for the winter months must be done, no more procrastination, which I am one to do. The summer birds have left, already headed for winter quarters. The sun, no longer high in the sky, peers through the leafless trees and flashes before my eyes as I am driving, which takes a lot of the fun out of it. Considering today's traffic, there isn't much fun left anyway. I'm not too fond of hunting season, even though I recognize the need to keep the animal population under control and the one bright spot -- Thanksgiving is really close to Christmas. It takes me longer to recover from holidays than it used to. With my children four to seven hours away, they naturally opt for coming home for Christmas. And then there is the ever constant battle of the bulge, so groaning tables are denied me. What a bummer! However, I'd hate to jump from October to December, so I guess November is good for something.

Ralph is recovering slowly from his cat bite. He is still hooked up to the "plumbing" as he calls it. He has another ten days of intravenous antibiotics. The doctor is taking no chances, as there was a man just recently who seemed to be recovering nicely and then the infection flared up again and, at last report, he was in danger of losing his hand. The nurse is trying to teach him how to flush it himself so he can get back to work. This is not a good time to be missing work, since IBM plans to "downsize" again and eliminate 300 jobs.

I have not yet figured out how putting people out of work helps the economy. If no one has any money to spend, well, I'm getting onto another subject, good for another three pages, but I'll spare you. I am not a believer in astrology, but if I were, I'd say Ralph's planets are at war or something. If this whole episode has not been enough, now he has chipped a tooth and lost a filling and it is estimated to cost $600 to replace. Since his insurance will pay less than half, he's facing a good-size bill. All he has left for pets at the moment are his fish and if I were to give him any advice, I'd tell him to keep his hands out of the fish tanks. With his luck lately, his gouramis will bite him and the heaters will electrocute him. And such is his life.

My apologies to Mary Gatchell for calling her Florence last week. Where I came up with that and why, I do not know. Her grandson, Jason Moody, who was last week's winner of the Greenstock Snow Sports fundraiser is from Nebraska. This week's winner was Wendi Sutherland from Auburn, a little closer to home.

We were thrilled to have two pair of mallard ducks visit our little marsh-lake for a couple days last week. We are still trying to come up with a better name than "bog" but so far have not been able to agree on one. I wanted to call it "middlemarsh" bog, but Andy was not enthused. But, hey, that leaves room for an "uppermarsh" and a "lowermarsh." Well, you get the picture. Guess I just have a weird sense of humor.

Saturday, I was at the Bethel Church of the Nazarene helping with their first delivery of SHARE food. This program is open to anyone. One pays $15 and does two hours of some type of community service for each box of food, or $14 worth of food stamps and $1 cash (for shipping) and two hours of service. The community service rules are very flexible. The food is bought, not donated, and the usual box contains food worth nearly twice as much as you pay for it. The church has three sign-up days, and I'm sure this paper will be telling you when and were in the months ahead.

Joyce Lamb was hostess recently at a potluck get-together at her home with Sayward and Cynthia Lamb, Richard and Ethelyn Turner, Glenn and Lucille Allen and Jean Gilbert in attendance. Joyce, Cynthia and Glenn are sisters and brother.

Vance and Connie Bacon spent the past weekend in Fairfax, Vt., with their daughter Kathy and husband Bob Bessett and children Emily, Marc and Timothy.

The ninth great-granddaughter of Barbara and Raymond Farr Jr. was born on Oct. 26, 1996 at Maine Medical Center, weighing 7 pounds. She is Nancy (Farr) Hersey's granddaughter named Alexa Marie Stingman, all living in Gray. She is the third great-great-granddaughter of Arline Marie Farr with the middle name of Marie.

Forward Fellowship met Monday evening with nine members present for a potluck supper. Much planning was done for the Craft and Food Sale and Luncheon on Saturday. They also planned for the 90th Annual Chicken Pie Supper on Nov. 21. Eleanor Inman will do the posters. Martha Day and Beryl Bonney will set the tables. Tickets will be taken care of by Martha Day and Milton Inman. Other committees are not complete.

The Senior Citizens will meet on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at Ledgeview Memorial Nursing Home for the annual Thanksgiving dinner.

The E.B. Forbes Goodwill group will hold their meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 12 at Goodwill Hall at 10:30 a.m. They will have a potluck dinner. Esther Davis and Lee Dean will be charge.

Our sympathy is extended to our next door neighbor Gary Latno and family upon the death of his mother.

Songo Pond

Things seem to have quieted down a bit around the pond now, except for those pesky cold winds. They surely helped the leaves disappear fast. The white,frosty mornings remind us of what's to come.

I drove to Norway one day this week. Daughter Sylvia met me there and we enjoyed a nice little visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bancroft, with her sister and husband, Alta and Bruce Smith, were in Lewiston one day this week.

Ethel and Craig Turner of Otisfield were callers here Sunday after doing some biking in the area.

Hi Celia! Sorry to hear about your fall. I hear you are recuperating nicely at Ledgeview Nursing Home.

What an interesting display of Halloween decorations at the home and yard of Jeremy and Sheri Head.

Whoever said swimming is good for the figure should take a good look at a whale. Ironies of Life.

Parent/Teacher conferences will be held at Andover Elementary School on Thursday, Nov. 7, from 6 to 9 p.m. and on Friday, Nov. 8, from 8 a.m. to noon. If you didn't get a conference notice please call the school at 392-4381. The Scholastic Book Fair will also be held during these hours. Books make great Christmas gifts.

The Snow Valley Sno-Goers are organizing a snowmobile trail work session for Sunday, Nov. 10. For more information call Ken Jodrey at 392-2852. Help from those that share the trails is greatly appreciated.

Seems busier on the roadways now that it is hunting season. The game tagging station at Mills Market reported that nine deer were tagged on opening day last Saturday. Two deer had been tagged earlier during the bow season. Take precautions if out walking in the wild and be sure to wear safety orange.

Get well wishes to Florence Hall who recently moved from the Rumford Community Home to the Ledgeview Nursing Home in West Paris.

South Woodstock

Dallas Cole and Cameron Poland enjoyed having their grandparents,Leon and Rosalie Poland, attend the Grandparents Day at Woodstock Elementary School. Also, Megan, Randi and Jaymi Mack had their grandmother, Donna Koshiba and great-grandmother Claribel Poland, who is also great-grandmother to Dallas and Cameron, attend the festivities. The children are always glad to have their relatives come to see them and their school work.

Vera Buck and Esther Davis visited Claribel and Buster Poland in their new mobile home one day this week. Also, Sandra Poland, Charlotte Wormell and Carman Hadley stopped by recently to have a look at Buster and Claribel's new home.

Another visitor to the Poland's new home was Tia and Randy Gladden and daughter Erielle. Erielle brought them a nice card welcoming and wishing them much happiness in the future.

Cameron Poland has been sick with a bout of asthma and pneumonia this past week. Hope he's feeling better soon.

Pete and Laurene Appleby stopped by for a visit this week. They hadn't been by for a while and it is always good to see them.

On Saturday, Sarah Hart and friend Kim stopped by for a visit. Sarah was only home from SMTC for the day, so she didn't stay long. Sarah's sister Jessie also was with them, so we visited with her also.

Kellie Record has a new car. It is a very pretty blue-green.

This past month Richard Wing received a certificate and pin for 25 years of service with MDOT. Wayne Lawrence, Tom Carter and Howard Jewell were others receiving the distinction from MDOT for 25 years service. Congratulations all!

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society reports that the museum has many outstanding exhibits. It offers interesting programs every month.

Sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Haven Hutchinson, who passed away this week. He will be missed by many in the community.

Quote of the week: "I've learned that an adolescent is a teenager who acts like a baby when you don't treat him like an adult."

Upton

by
Amy Geiling

Fifty-four (54) contestants have entered the Big Buck Contest. That's four more hunters than last year. My goal was 60 and we came real close. Good luck hunters. Scott Nicols takes first buck for 15 percent of the pot. His 144-pound, six-point buck was a nice deer, according to Jerry.

I would like to introduce you to Pok Sun Lane, owner of Far East Antiques at 162 Main Street, Bethel, at the Philbrook Place. Sun lives on Mill Road in Upton. She moved here this July with her husband, David Lane, and their two sons, Brian and James. Sun is originally from Che Ju Du, an island in South Korea. David is originally from Newry. Far East Antiques features special items such as hand-painted ducks, key boxes, Victorian house boxes, dolls and furniture from all different countries. Make sure you stop in her lovely shop for great Christmas gifts.

Upton got a dusting of snow on Saturday morning and Errol, N.H., got one-and-a-half inches.

SO NEAR, AND YET SO FAR--Roger and Patrice Beaudoin, owners of the Matterhorn Restaurant in Bethel, went mountain-climbing in Switzerland recently. Although they were not able to climb the Matterhorn, because of poor weather, they did ascend the 4,160-meter Breithorn. Their guide on the climb was Richard Andenmatten, who holds the record for the greatest number of ascents of the Matterhorn -- 800. The Beaudoins are shown here at the summit, with the Matterhorn in the background. Later, Roger also climbed the Rimpfischhorn, a similar climb to the Matterhorn. "It turned out to be dangerous, difficult and unpleasant," said Roger. He and his guide on that climb made their ascent shortly after a heavy snowstorm. The guide, Roger said, would not stop to rest, continuing on with Roger tied to him by rope, even when Roger had misgivings about continuing. They made the climb in just five hours. "I had a guidebook that said it would take six hours in perfect conditions," Roger said. The guide, Roger learned, had also been preoccupied -- his son had been killed in a climbing accident a year ago to the day.

Greenwood City

by Colista Morgan

October took over New England with a fierce brightness. After a few frosty nights the hills were a riot of color. It seemed as if the orange, red, yellow and russet trees stood out in the fall sunshine like bright daubs of paint squeezed on a palette. My big maples tapped their twigs.

The river and pond were swollen with the late rains. I heard the noise of the waters as if they were a human presence hailing me. I could not see the torrent rushing down the river but I felt the power that charged it. My cheeks and hair grew damp with misty spray as I stood to listen.

I saw twilight coming across the lawn. The golden afternoon light softened to dusky greenness and the shadows around the trees were reaching out to meet each other. The sun was going down behind the ragged, rough-backed line of western hills. Soon the sky was a water [illegible].

Blue [illegible] were raking dull skies and the sun looked like tarnished silver in the west.

I thought of the cows I had recently seen on the hillside, great bulks of contentment. Their sides are covered with splashes of black, where white hairs alternate with the black. This fascinates me. What mapmaker beneath the skin can cause the hair to grow that way.

The wind was fierce and cold, the autumn leaves had finished a Persian carpet on the ground, so I knew the summer had gone. October's [illegible] leaves had vanished until [illegible].

I have enjoyed several visitors this week. David and Mary came to the [illegible] Sunday. David helped his father with the storage of wood.

Leland Betts was at the home of Dot Betts for the weekend.

The grandson of Rena Curtis, who was going to college in Ohio, was in a bad car accident recently and was severely injured. He is the son of Glenn and Lillian Strait. He is returning home until February, when he hopes to return to school. His great aunt "Clis" wishes him a full recovery.

Sylvia and Bill Wight went gallivanting to Concord, N.H. then to Portsmouth and off to Old Town where they took in a baked bean supper on Saturday, Oct. 26. They were accompanied by their son Steve and his wife Marlene at the Stillwater Church.

Bowling at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford were Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Doris Parent, Sylvia Wight and Olive Anderson. On the overall scores Betsy was high on the triples beating Karlene by two pins, but Karlene was high on the singles beating Betsy by one pin and Doris by four pins. It was a close call all around! Of the eighties, Doris was high on the singles and triples. Karlene had one strike and one spare. Betsy had four spares. Gil had one spare. Sylvia had one strike and so did Doris.

Happy Birthday to Peggy Wight. "May today be the start of a happy and successful year." From your friends in the Newry Mothers Club. Birthday wishes to Mary Morin, too.

Ras Bachelder is back home after spending three days at Stephens Memorial Hospital going through a series of tests and blood build-up. He came out pretty good, nothing too serious, except some change in medication. He and his wife Karlene want to thank the doctors and nurses for the good care he received. Aaron Bachelder, their son from Mars Hill, came to give support and help during Ras' stay in the hospital. While there, Karlene and I had the pleasure of meeting Mark Kendall of Bethel, who was a patient for some injuries. We also met Denise, daughter of the late Arthur Gauthier, who works there. Christine, sister of Rena Powers, also works there. Pastor Rodney Hanscom was also there one day to give spiritual support to the patients.

The Newry Mothers Club will meet on Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Building. Mystery prize by Olive Anderson and refreshments are up for grabs.

The Newry Ski Equipment program will be Tuesday, Nov. 19, and Wednesday, Nov. 20, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Newry Town Office. This program provides free downhill ski equipment to all students and their parents in SAD44 who live in Newry. This equipment must be returned to the town at the end of the ski season.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

Our sympathy and prayers go out this week to the family of Peter Gouin of Norway, who died Saturday, Oct. 26. He was the son of Arthur and Joyce Grover Gouin. He also leaves a sister, Lesley Dean and family.

Frances Grant and Eleanor Nelson visited Grace Nelson Thursday at the Bridgton Health Care Center. She is getting along fine and appreciates visits and cards.

Frances Grant and I worked at the Share Program on Saturday in Oxford. This is fun work and a nice program to belong to. The next Oxford Hills Share day is Nov. 23 from noon to 2 p.m., and they have excellent foods. We pay a month in advance and anyone can join.

On Tuesday night this past week, 15 members of the Stoneham Volunteer Firemen met at the fire station for their regular meeting. Tickets are now on sale for the Booster Club, which they will start in the near future.

On Wednesday, Oct. 30, there was a Stoneham Comprehensive Planning meeting at the fire station with five members attending. A comprehensive plan is like a road map for the future of the town. The plan includes a collection of information about the town. Based on the information, the plan has a set of goals the town would like to achieve in the future. Since 1988 state law has been specific about the contents of a comprehensive plan. The purpose of the plan is to have a basic for the town's land use control, zoning, subdivision review, site plan, natural resources protection, etc.

A Town of Stoneham Community Survey was discussed and a committee will get one put together to be sent out to residents and taxpayers to fill out. This will help members to work out any differences for the good of the town's future. Stoneham's population has increased in the past twenty years. Growth can affect a community and we want it to be a positive one.

A committee has been chosen to work on these plans, and a consultant will be available to help with the survey and reproduction of maps, etc. The next meeting will be on Nov. 13 at the Stoneham Fire Station meeting room at 7:30 p.m. Anyone is welcome to attend these meetings and any suggestions are welcome on how to protect and improve the community.

On Wednesday, Oct. 30, the Stoneham Volunteer Firemen had a clean-up project at the station. It does look good, fellers. You did a good job.

Did you see the snow on Tuesday and Wednesday? I blinked and didn't see it but the flakes did come down. Just a sample of what's to come in the days ahead.

In November, church services will be held in East Stoneham from 10 to 11 a.m., along with Sunday School.

Albert had some bear meat recently but I haven't heard him growl yet (any more than usual, that is!).

Don't forget get well cards to Charlie Merrill at CMMC in Lewiston.

Also, do hope you all made the effort to go and vote on Nov. 5!

GRANGE CERTIFICATES--Eva Mills (right) and Verna Swan were recently presented with certificates recognizing their long Grange membership. The certificates, presented by Worthy Master Richard Felt, cited Mills for 80 years of membership in Franklin Grange 124, and Swan for 75 years of state and national membership. On hand for the Mills' presentation were her sons Sterling and O'Neil.

A Virginia girl comes home to a place called "Bethel"

By CAMILLA EVERETT

In 1982 I met a man from Maine. I was a Virginia gal in love with Virginia.

In 1983 the man said that if we were a legal couple I would live in Maine at some point in time. I thought I should hop a jet and at least look at Maine. I did this in May. Maine was cold and still wintery while Virginia was full of azaleas and just beautiful. Still, Maine was nice and it was a good trip. I wasn't worried. I had years to think of a possible Maine future.

We became a legal pair, moved to Scotland with the Navy and began an adventure of Navy moves, advances and lots of Navy separations. I bought stamps by the roll.

Our longest domain was a small house in Virginia Beach that needed a lot of work when we bought it, but I had time and set to work while my Maine man was gone to sea. Slowly the house changed, so it would sell later on, and the yard became a lovely fenced-in garden complete with pond and lots of goldfish, with fountain ... all fashioned from our hands. Time there flew past us.

Virginia Beach went crazy building large roadways after we settled in and soon a large parkway was going in behind our house. It didn't seem dirty but it was eternally loud and I had such allergies that I seldom could breath. It definitely was harmful to us and decision time was arriving to hang onto the money or go north to the healthy and peaceful life. We discussed, for months on end, plans to retire, and finally one evening on the Kennedy, Bob slipped his papers into the captain's mailbox, where there was no return.

In 1992, the Navy shipped Bob off for a six-month cruise in the Mediterranean and I began to do the Navy Scrub of everything in sight, in order to sell the house and put our things into storage with them. The house went and I was left alone to just move around for months until he returned in the spring. It was an uneasy winter.

When he returned I drove from my mother's home in West Virginia to pick him up, go through retirement week, say goodbye to friends and left. I had a lot of drawings in my bag to rebuild the old house at the four corners of the Flat Road outside of West Bethel. I had a great time doing all those drawings and planned just what it would all turn out like, right down to colors and where the furniture would be. We went back through to check on Mom and settle her plans to move with us later, and then we turned north and were on our way.

The summer was great. Hard work and dry, hot weather with lots of swimming in our local creek to cool off and visit with neighbors there. We worked every day along with our builder, Jim Boyce, and it was one great adventure for me. I spent hours and weeks cleaning out the pond behind the house (and still do to this day).

We fell into the West Bethel Union Church and the Grange and into Bethel in general. I loved the small-town feel of it all and the people were super. We were home.

The Vautours took us in for a week in November of '93 while we were doing one last week of work on the house before moving in, and it snowed. It was lovely. The winter was bitter cold and very beautiful and we just settled in with all the work there is to do in a new house. I paint, so I spent months running around with a brush in my hands. We had the garage put up in terrible weather but it got built just the same.

Bob eventually went to work with Grover Gundrilling for over a year, but was allergic to the oil they use and was gradually forced to think of something else to do. He wound up with Bethel Auto Sales under the teaching and helping hands of Judy and Bradley Barker. They were just wonderful in not letting us just sink or swim. They made sure we swam.

I really liked working at the Auto Sales with Bob, and we discovered we were a good team and things were falling into place. Except my energy was lagging and I was limping. Snow came and I fell down, making the limping worse. I thought time would fix it but not so. I fell again and put myself into crutches and the doctors said I was fine. It began to be an ordeal with one day of struggle after another, and I still thought it would all go away.

It didn't go away. Spring brought a diagnosis of multiple myeloma, and you could have knocked me over with a feather. I felt like a truck hit me because I understood what this disease was. Nobody had to tell me.

This began the radiation, the running back and forth to Lewiston, the never-ending volunteers lined up to get me there. The cards poured in, many from people I didn't even know. The prayer chains went into effect. Food bowls showed up in our kitchen with bags of produce on the doorstep if we were gone.

Finally the tears came, not tears of pain and feeling sorry for myself, but tears of gratitude for all these people who came forward to help me save my life and to walk again. They pinned angels on my shoulder but they were the angels themselves. Every one of them who would not take compensation for all their efforts and gas. The list is as long as this story.

There is a lesson in everything. My last year has been terrible and wonderful. I know now why it was so important to move to Bethel. Webster's dictionary says that Bethel is defined as a place of God or a holy place. I believe that.

We have had nonstop guests this past year. Our family from all across the nation has been drawn together in a wellness goal and friends stay in close touch with calls and communications of cheer. They love visiting here and the illness issue is forgotten in laughter and the beauty of the area.

It's still going on. I can walk now and work in our pretty yard down by the pond again. I'm gravely ill. I know it, but I know this, too, if the will of the Bethel area people is seen and heard by God, I will be well again. When you see me on the streets I want you to know that God loves you and so do I. I was meant to live here with you in a kind place called Bethel.

The Woodstock/Greenwod Senior Citizens will meet at the Grange Hall on Thursday, Nov. 7, for a meeting and dinner put on by the Woodstock High School Alumni. (Turkey and all the fixings.)

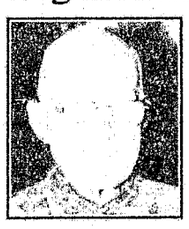
Judith Grover Tent 17 will meet on Monday, Nov. 11, for a regular meeting, nomination of officers and initiation of new members. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

The Woodstock Historical Society's exhibits and programs are outstanding. Society members are dedicated and active. Our organization deserves your support. Become involved in its activities. Curator Larry Billings is interested in many subjects and he tries to relate them to the activities of the historical society. That way other people benefit from his experiences.

The historical society gathers information to share with the public, puts it in the paper or presents it at meetings and many things are filed in the museum for people doing research.

Larry Billings has many books on antiques which he refers to on occasion. The society promotes literature at d has a small collection of classics in the museum. The next meeting is Saturday, Nov. 9, at 7 p.m.

High Street



West Paris

by Russell Yates

Howdy friends, this 28th day of October has been another damp one, but pot quite as wet as a week ago. It really rained then and most folks would have stayed home, but Peggy and I attended the Franklin Grange meeting in Bryant Pond. We were supposed to dress up for Halloween, so Peggy and I dressed for the occasion and we both won prizes. Mine was for the funniest.

We were down street Tuesday morning so I could get a blood test. We also visited Mary Smith at Market Square Nursing Home in South Paris. That afternoon, we went to Ron Heath's garage to have a different power steering pump installed in Peggy's car. This pump stopped all of the moaning and groaning that we'd been hearing before.

Tuesday evening, we attended a meeting of the Woodstock High School Alumni Committee at Ken and Alice Hoyt's home. Only a few showed up, but plans were made for serving the senior citizen group on Nov. 7 at Franklin Grange Hall. This will probably be their first Thanksgiving dinner.

Our suitcases were packed and we had planned to leave on Thursday to attend the State Grange session in Skowhegan, where we were to act as delegates from Oxford Pomona Grange. However, sister Peggy was not feeling well so we decided that it would be smarter to stay home. Peggy spent much of the day sleeping.

Peggy felt a little better on Friday, so we went shopping.

Sunday was a beautiful, sunny and warm day and we attended our family reunion at Bryce and Barbara Yates' home. We had a reasonably good attendance, and it was warm enough so a lot of the visiting was done outside in the sunshine. Bryce and Barbara had their new motor home open so any interested people could look it over. It was visited by many that came to the reunion. Bryce and Barbara lived in their motor home while spending the summer in Alaska.

The food was displayed on a long table in the basement and all hands gathered there for lunch. I found it all to be very delicious. After lunch, music was furnished by John and Yvonne Nowlin, Richard Felt and sister Laura with her accordion. I also spoke one of my humorous readings. This was the first time that we've had special entertainment at our family reunion. It went over good, so next year may see even more entertainment.

Many of the Lovejoy family were at the Oxford County Fair Grounds on Saturday to enjoy the haunted hayride. The hayride helped raise money for Project Graduation. Hope Lovejoy worked there much of the day.

There will be a dance at Locke Mills Town Hall on Nov. 9.

grow on their own. "It's like a treasure hunt, looking among the weeds," she said.

The property also boasted six springs. Ellery had an elaborate sprinkler system for the gardens. "It was the best that money could buy for the time," Smith said.

In the early years, the only means to get to the house was by boat. The family could come by train or limousine to Bryant Pond, then take the boat.

"There were two boat houses, on either side of the lake," Mills said. Later, a road was built to the house.

Long-time Woodstock resident Earle Noyes wonders at the choice of location for the house. "The ledge towers right behind the building. They've had boulders come through it," he said.

Noyes said maids and cooks lived in one end of the house, the family in the other. "And they hired a lot of local people to work on the grounds," he said.

His father found work there as a carpenter, Noyes said.

Unfortunately, Bessie's dream-come-true ended when her husband lost his fortune in the Depression.

The property had to be sold, except for a cottage known as "the teahouse", across the pond from the main house. The Ellerys were able to maintain the teahouse for many years, Noyes said.

Selling the cottage took the cooperation of two towns. It sits astride the town line of Woodstock and Greenwood.

Today, Smith and her family still find their business split between the two towns. "I feel like I live in Woodstock," said Smith. "I get my mail in Bryant Pond. But I vote in Greenwood."

DUNHAM REUNION

The descendants of Elton and Mabel Morgan Dunham met at the home of Richard and Nathalie Jordan on Sept. 8 in Wilton for their annual reunion. Despite the rainy and cool weather, a potluck dinner and 50th-reunion cake were enjoyed by the 28 members present.

Guests attended from Auburn, Bethel, Greenwood, Locke Mills, Bryant Pond, Waterford and Wilton.

The meeting was opened with a silent prayer in honor of deceased members and followed by the Lord's prayer. Gifts were presented to the oldest member, Robert Cole; youngest member, Vance Jordan; married the longest, Leland and Sylvia Dunham; traveling the longest distance, Daniel and Diana Cole; and traveling the shortest distance, Wilfred and Lillian Noyes. Officers elected for 1997 were Richard Jordan, president and Nathalie Jordan, secretary and treasurer.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

The Auxiliary joined the American Legion Post 68 on Oct. 17 in honoring the young men and women, now Telstar High School seniors, who attended Boys State and Girls State last June. A ham dinner was served with the young people sharing the head table with the Post commander and president, Earl Tyler and Martha Stowell; department finance officer and Boys State committeeman Ed Roach; and department Americanism officer Ramona Narragon. Junior Auxiliary member, nine-year-old Candice Ward, was also seated at the head table. Later in the evening she, having been studying about the flag, explained about saluting it when the National Anthem is being played.

Delegates sponsored by the Post were: Jason Billings, son of Tamara and Malcolm of Bryant Pond; and Dan Emerson, son of Fred Sr. and Margaret of Andover. Cory Koch, son of William and Billie Rae Koch of Greenwood, was not present. Both boys spoke about what they learned, one having been the moderator for a town meeting and the other having run for an office. Their session was held at the Maine Maritime Academy in Castine.

The girls spent their week at Husson College in Bangor. Long-time Girls State director Shirley Williams, who retired after this last session, was unable to attend for health reasons, but sent her love and best wishes to all. Delegate Jenn York, daughter of Cliff and Diane York of Bryant Pond was also unable to attend the dinner. Present were Kim Brown, daughter of Dottie Brown of Bryant Pond and Owen and Debbie Brown of Bethel; Beth Howe, daughter of Wayne and Marilyn Howe of Bryant Pond. Liza Fyrberg, daughter of Steven and Donna Fyrberg of East Andover was also invited to this dinner. The town of Andover pays the fee each year for one delegate from their town and she is sponsored by the Oxford County Council Auxiliary, but is invited to attend the Locke Mills dinner with her classmates. The girls also spoke of running for offices which they didn't win, of the friendships they made, of the speakers who addressed them and how much they learned about the way government works.

Guests Ed Roach and Ramona Narragon spoke and Fannie Cummings, 77-year Auxiliary member and past department president was introduced. Olive Risko hoped that everyone would vote on election day but would find out how their favored candidates feel about the G.I. Bill of Health which will be introduced in the next session of Congress, and about the proposed Flag amendment which will be submitted again. Last session this amendment lost by three votes in the Senate and all of Maine's delegation voted for it. Some of our present candidates are said not to favor it.

Proceeds for the Musical Supper of Nov. 12 are earmarked for the Tony Jordan Fund. Tony, who was department commander in 1979 will be running for National Commander at the convention next year in Florida and is in need of funds for this expensive campaign.

In other business the Unit voted $100 each for the Christmas Gift Shops at the Togus VA facility and Western Maine Veterans Home, also to purchase gifts for the veterans who are in Ledgeview Nursing Home. Funds for these endeavors are earned through the sale of bulbs for the Christmas trees on the grounds at the Post home in Locke Mills. These bulbs are in memory or honor of any veteran, also of Auxiliary members, and may be purchased for $2 each by contacting Evanna Davis at P.O. Box 506, Bethel, ME 04217.

Other donations were voted for the Halloween Haunted House in Greenwood and Heather Beasley, department president, whose home was completely destroyed by fire recently.

The next regular meeting will be on Nov. 7 at 7 p.m.

ANNUAL SKI SALE

The Bethel Outing Club will hold its annual ski sale on Friday, Nov. 8 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 9 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Gould Academy Field House in Bethel.

This year the sale is scheduled two weeks later than usual, due to renovations to the field house roof. Featured in the sale are new and used equipment for alpine and cross-country skiing, and other winter sports, and includes clothing and accessories.

The popular fall sale provides families, individuals, skiers new to the sport, as well as experts and racers, an opportunity to get outfitted for the coming season at bargain-basement prices.

The B.O.C., a nonprofit community service organization, holds the annual sale as a public service, and as the club's primary fundraiser. Proceeds from the sale are used to promote and support youth development nordic ski programs, and other community service projects in Bethel and the western Maine region.

SMH CHRISTMAS LIGHTS

Stephens Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will light the Christmas tree in front of the hospital at 5 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 4.

The community is invited to share the holiday spirit at the tree-lighting ceremony. The auxiliary will serve hot chocolate, coffee and cookies to all those who attend. The festivities will include music and carol singing and will once again feature the Oxford Hills High School's Viking Voices and Vikettes with the Wind Ensemble conducted by Mrs. Cynthia Wescott. For those of you who cannot attend, Norway Savings Bank and WOXO will be sponsoring WOXO's live radio broadcast from the hospital, sharing this memorable event with the community.

Christmas tree lights are now on sale to benefit the auxiliary.

The tree-lighting tradition began 14 years ago, when the auxiliary began selling lights on the commemorative tree. The proceeds from the tree lights are used to buy medical equipment for the Norway hospital. The lights are purchased for $5 each and may be designated in memory or in honor of an individuals, couple or family.

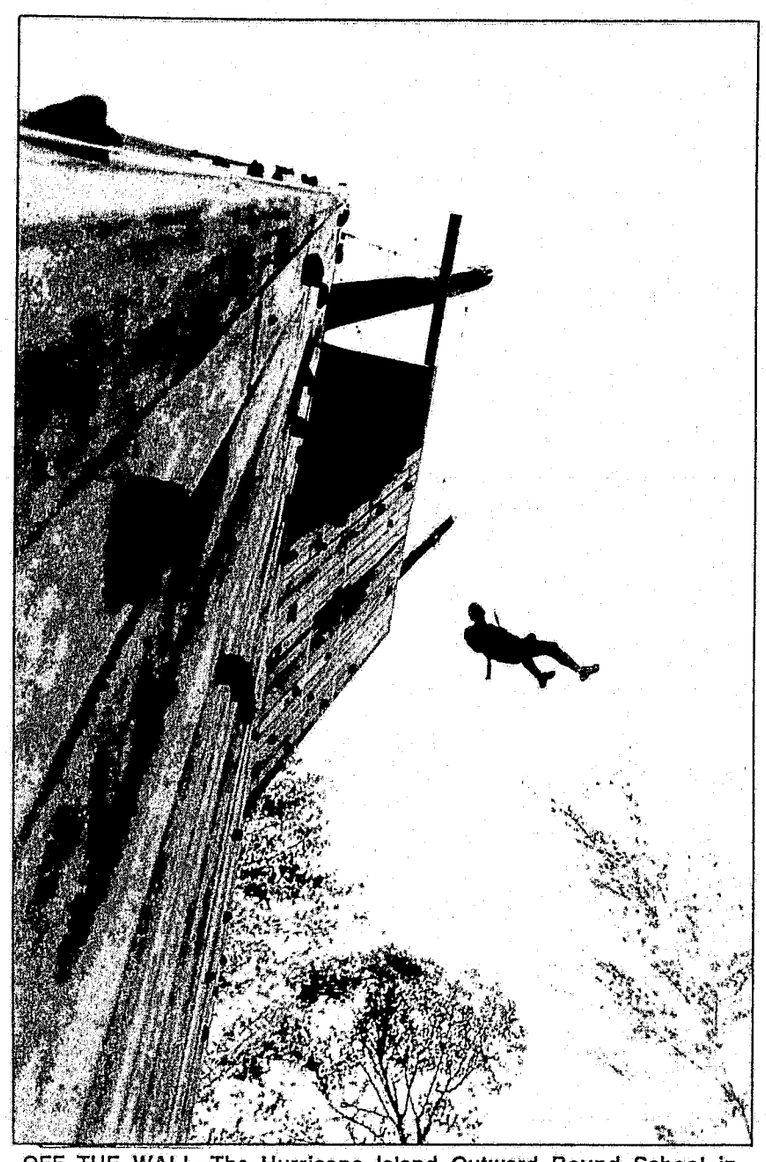
The auxiliary's goal is to sell more lights than ever before to commemorate 14 years of honoring and memorializing members of the community in Western Maine. If you would like to remember or honor someone special, you may purchase and designate a special light through Dec. 31. Lights may be purchased in the Stephens Memorial Hospital coffee shop, through any auxiliary member, at Preb's Pharmacy in Bethel, or by calling Mrs. Alice Cornwall at 743-2568, or Mrs. Winona Chase at 743-6376.

THOMAS HARDY WEEKEND

The Appalachian Mountain Club has scheduled a workshop devoted to the writings of Thomas Hardy at the club's Pinkham Notch Visitor Center in the White Mountain National Forest on Nov. 15-17.

Through lectures, discussions, group study, and film, the "Thomas Hardy Weekend" will investigate the changing times that Hardy experienced, and his writing portrayed, as the Victorian world gave way to the modern age.

For reservations and workshop information, please write: Workshop Registration, Appalachian Mountain Club, P.O. Box 298, Gorham, N.H. 03581, or call (603) 466-2727.



OFF THE WALL--The Hurricane Island Outward Bound School in Newry recently constructed a climbing wall for use by students and staff. The structure is supported by four 55-foot utility poles, and stands 36 feet high. It was built with pressure-treated lumber, and has rock handholds. The wall is used in the school's confidence and teamwork-building courses, as well as for staff and rescue training. It simulates many features of rock climbing, with sections ranging from relatively easy to very difficult. The locations of the rock handholds can also be changed to create different routes up the structure. "It's safe, and easy to manage," said site manager David Walker. "People who have tried it so far loved it." Here, climbing instructor Ray Geiger takes a break from rappelling down the wall. (Photo by Alison Aloisio)

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Many thanks to the Sudbury Inn for hosting the chamber's General Membership Meeting and Social on Monday, Nov. 4. We recognized outgoing board members: Dan Davis, Cathy Newell, Linda Varrell and Bill Riley and thanked them for their years of service to the membership. We voted in the new slate of directors for the coming year, which includes four new board members: Sandy Dennis, Steve Wight, David Murphy and Anita Remington. We also recognized the 1995-96 Board president, Lois Ruff, who is stepping down from that role but remaining on the board. We made a special presentation to the Bethel Bicentennial Committee for their outstanding effort and coordination of events during the past year. Incoming president, George Driscoll led an open membership discussion and indicated that the membership survey input will be very important in the 1997 planning, which will be done at the upcoming Board Retreat on Wednesday, Nov. 20. Members who have not yet returned their surveys are encouraged to do so.

The Merchants Committee of the chamber has been meeting once or twice a week for a month of planning for the upcoming "Shop Local" campaign from Friday, Nov. 29, through Friday, Dec. 20. The committee got together last Friday to decide on the winning shop local slogan. Congratulations goes to Crescent Park School fourth-grader Crystal Mills. Her winning slogan is: "Bethel, Support Your Town, Don't Shop Around." Runner-up was Shirley Seames of Locke Mills whose slogan was: "Better Enjoy These Holiday Events Locally."

4-H DAIRY CLUB

Western Maine 4-H Dairy Club held a meeting on Oct. 27 at the Oxford County Extension Office in South Paris. The meeting began with year-ending club awards along with members receiving backpacks and Halloween goodies.

Members voted for club officers as follows: president, Nellie Emery; vice president, Emily Phillips; secretary, Isaac Abbott; treasurer, Samantha Mullen; club reporter, Lacy Phillips; and flag bearers, Steven Abbott and Austin Abbott.

President Emery conducted the meeting. A vote was taken on participating in the Christmas parade in November, and it was a unanimous yes vote to sign up. Then several ideas were discussed for a float. The next meeting will take place at the Smith residence in Oxford on Nov. 10 at 1 p.m.

The meeting came to a close with snacks for everyone to enjoy.

Portland String Quartet to perform

The Portland String Quartet will present an evening of chamber music at Gould Academy's Bingham Auditorium on Thursday, Nov. 14. The 7:30 p.m. performance, part of Gould's Performing Arts Series, is open to the public.

The four members of the quartet, Stephen Kecskemethy, Ronald Lantz, Julia Adams and Paul Ross, are in their 28th season together, having joined the Portland Symphony Orchestra as first chairs of the string sections in 1969. The Portland String Quartet was later established as an independent musical ensemble, with support from the LARK Society for Chamber Music.

The Quartet has toured extensively throughout the United States, Latin America, Europe, Japan and Russia, and has given concerts and workshops on several college campuses. The members are artists in residence at Colby College, and present an annual String Quartet Workshop for gifted high school and college string players, as well as summer and fall workshops for enthusiastic adult amateur string players at the Newagen Inn in Boothbay.

Giving priority to music education in Maine, the Quartet adapts its school concerts and workshops to the needs and desires of individual schools, and makes an effort to visit as many different geographic areas as possible. To date, the Portland String Quartet has performed in over 350 locales in Maine.

Tickets for the Nov. 14 performance are $6 for adults and $4 for students, and area available at the door. For further information, please contact Vicki Rackliffe at 824-3575.

Service notes

PVT. J.A. STEVENS

Army National Guard Pvt. Jeremy A. Stevens has graduated from basic military training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid and Army history and traditions.

Stevens is the son of Harry H. Stevens of West Paris and Nancy L. Lothrop of Norway. He is a 1996 graduate of Oxford Hills High School in South Paris.

OFF TO SNOW COUNTRY--Former Sunday River Ski Resort photographer Sharon McNeill has accepted a position as photo editor for Snow Country Magazine. McNeill has relocated (with reluctance) to southern Connecticut -- "But I'll be back a lot," she said. (Photo by John Moore)

Rotary Club notes:

As the pre-Christmas season approaches, the Bethel Rotary Club is moving into high gear as we plan for all the upcoming activities.

Anyone wishing to purchase a case of delicious Florida grapefruits or oranges is encouraged to contact a Rotarian or pick up a form at Preb's Pharmacy. Citrus sale committee member Dave Preble has challenged the club to make this the best sale ever! Sales will continue through November 26 and delivery will be done the week of Dec. 9, in plenty of time to make this a great and healthy Christmas present.

Everyone is reminded of the Annual Rotary Country Breakfast on Sunday, Dec. 1, at Gould Academy dining hall from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. Tickets will be available from all Rotarians and at the door for $5 for adults, $2.50 for children under 12. This is a fantastic breakfast for the price and all proceeds go to support Rotary community programs.

Senior citizens are invited to attend the annual Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner on Tuesday, Dec. 17 at the Mundt-Allen American Legion Hall on Vernon Street.

The Club Services committee, chaired by Dr. Kevin Finley, is planning two upcoming Rotary events. A Rotary Recognition Night on Friday, Nov. 22 at the Bethel Inn and the Rotary Family Christmas celebration on Friday, Dec. 13, at the Summit Hotel.

The Christmas for Children Campaign is due to be kicked off this week, according to chairman David Murphy. Dedicated Rotarians will again be standing out in front of the Bethel Foodliner to accept donations. Anyone wishing to contribute may send their donations to: Bethel Rotary Club Christmas for Children Campaign, 844 Mayville Road, Bethel, 04217. This is also the address where anyone wishing to be served by this program would send a request letter.

October was Vocational Service month. Vocational Service Director Gary Stuer invited several informative speakers representing different aspects of our economy to speak. Don Feeney, forester at P.H. Chadbourne spoke to us on the upcoming Forestry Referendum. Lois Ruff from Bethel Furniture Stock attended and spoke on her company. Dr. Kent Webster, the interim SAD 44 superintendent spoke about his goals for the coming year. Last week, Sam and Nan Timberlake talked about the evolution of their business and then gave a tour of the facilities.

Gary Stuer has implemented a new Rotary program called the Pet Visitation Program, where volunteers take pets to the Ledgeview Nursing Home in West Paris to visit with the patients. In the development of this program, Gary has cited research showing positive benefits of animals on elderly people. Anyone interested in helping with this program is encouraged to contact Gary.

International Service Committee Director Bill Clough has been busy each week teaching the Rotarians French. The committee has plans to attend a club meeting in our neighboring province of Quebec in the spring of 1997.

Bethel Selectmen's Meetings

On weeks in which the Bethel selectmen meet (usually the weeks of the first and third Mondays in the month) the meetings will be televised on Channel IV. The broadcasts will normally be at 7 p.m. on Friday, but schedule modifications will occasionally be necessary, so please check the on-air calendar for up-to-date information.

Broadcast of the selectmen's meeting is a cooperative effort of Channel IV and The Bethel Citizen.

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceed's of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuitions, area athletes expenses, disabled individual needs, etc.

If you're cleaning the garage, attic or cellar, let us get rid of those unneeded items for you. Call Roger Conant, 824-2117 or 824-2269 for pickup.

Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

Obituaries

ARTHUR "CAL" COOLIDGE

Arthur "Cal" Coolidge, 68, of Bensalem, Penn., died Friday, Oct. 25, 1996, at Torresdale division of Frankford Hospital in Philadelphia. Born in Greenwood, he was a resident of Bensalem for 40 years.

Mr. Coolidge was previously employed as a machinist at the Frankford Arsenal, retiring in 1976 after 18 years of service. He was a U.S. Navy veteran of WWII.

He is survived by his wife, Mary Plattenberger Coolidge; two daughters, Christine and Diane; and three grandchildren, Valerie, Kaitlyn and Justin. He is also survived by two brothers, Wilfred Coolidge of Bethel and Robert Coolidge of Locke Mills; three sisters, Margaret Bailey, Anita Packard and Constance Blanchard all of Locke Mills.

Mass of Christian burial was held Tuesday, Oct. 29, at St. Charles Borromeo Church. Interment was in the Resurrection Cemetery Bensalem.

RICHARD R. CROCKETT

Richard R. Crockett, 75, of Norway died Tuesday, Oct. 29, 1996, at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

He was born on Feb. 26, 1921, the son of Ray and Ethel Billings Crockett. He graduated from Gould Academy in Bethel. He married Betty Cleveland on July 8, 1945, and had lived in the Norway area most of his life where he worked in local shoe shops as shipper and receiver and also as a bookkeeper.

Mr. Crockett was a member of the Norway Country Club where he enjoyed playing golf. He also enjoyed bowling.

He is survived by his wife of Norway; one brother, Clayton of Bethel; and several nieces and nephews.

Graveside services were held at the Pine Grove Cemetery in South Paris on Friday, Nov. 1. Donations in Mr. Crockett's memory may be sent to Christmas for Kids, c/o Sue Batchelder, RR 1 Box 3255, Norway, ME 04268.

ELSIE H. TAYLOR

Elsie (House) Taylor, 56, of Bryant Pond, died early Thursday morning, Oct. 31, 1996, at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Taylor was born in Locke Mills on Oct. 10, 1940, daughter of the late William and Lona (Newell) House. She attended the Locke Mills schools, and was a lifelong resident of the Locke Mills and Bryant Pond area. She was the widow of Asa M. Taylor.

She is survived by a son, Asa M. Taylor Jr. of Lewiston; a sister, Antoinette Bubier of Auburn; a brother, Bellmont House of Bryant Pond; a granddaughter; and a close friend and long-time companion, John Clifford. Besides her husband, she was predeceased by two sisters, Elizabeth and Lonabelle House.

Graveside services were held Saturday, Nov. 2, at the Lakeside Cemetery in Bryant Pond. Friends who wish may make donations to Tri-Town Rescue, P.O. Box 275, West Paris, ME 04289.

STEPHEN C. FLYNN

Stephen Charles Flynn, 70, of Rumford, died Thursday, Oct. 31, 1996, at his home.

He was born on June 18, 1926, in Rumford, the son of Daniel and Ella Flynn and was educated in local schools, graduating from Stephens High School with the class of 1944. He also attended the University of Georgia where he took a tax appraisal course. He had owned and operated Flynn's Market in Rumford for many years.

He was retired from the Town of Rumford where he had been the tax collector for more than 15 years. A veteran of World War II, he served in the U.S. Army as a PFC and was a member of the Rumford Lodge of Elks, the Napoleon Ouellette Post of the American Legion, Oakdale Country Club and many bridge clubs. On July 31, 1949, he married the former Gloria Gauthier in Rumford.

Surviving besides his wife of Rumford are a son, Daniel S. Flynn of Norcross, Ga.; a daughter, Linda Knapp of Rumford; a brother, Ambrose Flynn of Rumford; a sister, Mrs. Melvin (Shirley) Olson of East Bethel; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 4, at St. Athanasius-St. John Church, with burial at St. John Cemetery, Rumford.

ALBERT W. HENLEY

Albert W. Henley, 82, of Locke Mills, died at his residence on Sunday evening, Nov. 3, 1996, after a long illness.

Mr. Henley was born in Waterford on Jan. 10, 1914, son of the late Elmer and Rena (Jackman) Henley. He received his education in the Waterford and Norway schools and married the former Faye E. Hinkley on March 10, 1951. He had worked in the Bethel area mills for many years, retiring 20 years ago. After his retirement he delivered the Lewiston Sun to Bethel area customers for several years.

He was well known in the western Maine area for his vocal ability, and he had performed for many of the local shows and fundraisers.

Survivors include eight daughters: Margaret Roberts of West Paris, June York of Bethel, Hilda Holmes of Buckfield, Rena Dudley of Inverness, Fla., Joanne Henley of Locke Mills, Alberta Chadburn of Bryant Pond, Katherine Smith of South Paris, Marie Bellanceau of Locke Mills; three sons: Arthur and Melvin of Locke Mills, and Alan of Otisfield; 27 grandchildren, and 23 great-grandchildren. He was predeceased by his wife Faye and son Bruce. Mr. Henley was lovingly cared for by a very dear friend, Christine Grant, for several years.

Graveside services will be held at Lakeside Cemetery, Bryant Pond, on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 2 p.m., to which friends are invited. Friends who wish may make memorial donations to: Tri-Town Rescue, P.O. Box 275, West Paris, ME 04289, or American Cancer Society, Memorial Program, Box 456, Brunswick, ME 04011.
